

Research School for Operations
Management and Logistics

Smart Logistics: Taking Inventory Optimization to the Next Level

Bram De Moor – KU Leuven

In this thesis we will explore the application of the latest optimization techniques for inventory control. The objective is to develop replenishment rules that leverage the recent developments in smart logistics.